

Lost In Blue

2018

Historical dress XVII century (blue silk) and Gnaga sculpture (blue nylon) - Life Masks.

Daniele Basso

Masks are clothes of the soul.

We change them according to situations. Some deceive. Others protect us. The best enhance our qualities. We all are more or less authentic characters in which we risk to lose ourselves.

In the same way some clothes transcend fashions to become the expression of unique moments of Humanity. Art pursues these moments that transforms into emotions...

In the tower of Verrone Castle, now home to Falseum - Museum of False and Deception, we find ourselves lost in ourselves, in search of the best mask!

Mask that we have to choose with an exact awareness of us and our desires.

Because this establishes its effectiveness and ethics, both individual and collective.

You, what mask do you want to be?
