The edge, physical expression of discontinuity, is the universal symbol of change, which through the repetition of small and big crises transforms the end into a new beginning. Unique concrete tool that nature has allowed us to evolve. But we need great awareness to overcome the limits. A scream against the sky releases our life energy. Everything changed. The crisis has passed. At that moment we have grown and with us the whole of humanity. Reflections in the mirror we discover that we are humanity! The future is in the hands of each of us.
